The reports received from Local Governments on the administration of the Co-operative Credit Societies Act (X of 1904) during the year 1909-10.

The proceedings of the conference of Registrars of Co-operative Credit Societies held at Allahabad in January 1911.

RESOLUTION.

The total number of societies of all kinds at the end of the year 1909-10 was 3,498, showing an increase of 1,490 or 74 per cent, during the year. Rural societies increased by 1,379, urban societies by 94, and central societies by 17. The number of members increased by 25 per cent from 184,889 to 231,000, and the capital by 53 per cent from Rs. 80,65,111 to Rs. 1,24,00,000.

These results are in every way satisfactory, especially in view of the fact that in most provinces the Registrars have very properly discouraged any undue haste in the expansion of the movement.

2. Almost from the beginning of the movement under the Act of 1904, instances in which that Act required amendment have been evident, and finally, on the recommendation of the Fourth Conference of Registrars, it was decided to undertake the amendment of the Act. In the course of amending it, it was found simpler to reconstruct it altogether, and a new Bill was introduced into the Viceroy's Legislative Council in March 1911. The chief features in which the Bill differs from the existing Act are the classification of societies as societies with unlimited and limited liability instead of as rural and urban societies; the extension of the Act to societies other than credit societies; the permission accorded to some societies, with unlimited liability but with share capital, to distribute profits; and the provision for societies of which other societies should be members. Some other minor alterations of policy have also been incorporated, but certain suggestions which have been at times put forward, such as those for allowing minor heirs to become members, for the abolition of the residential qualification in societies of unlimited liability, and for giving special powers to societies to recover loans, have not found a place in the Bill. The Bill has been published for criticism and will subsequently be referred to a Select Committee.

3. A conference of Registrars—the Fifth Annual Conference—was held in January 1911. It was the first held away from the headquarters of the Government of India, and took place at Allahabad in connection with the Industrial Exhibition. It was attended by the Registrars of all provinces, except Burma, and by a number of visitors. Reports of general progress from the provinces showed that there was an extraordinary diversity in the lines of development followed in different parts of India, and not a small advantage of these conferences lies in the opportunity they afford for the experts of one province to hear at first hand and to enquire further about special developments evolved in other places. With diversities of race, tradition and custom, so great and so many as are to be found within British India and the Native States of India, any attempt at uniformity must fail. Uniformity is not to be found even in the European countries, where the movement originated and has taken firmest hold, and nothing of the kind is contemplated in India. But just as the whole movement was started in imitation of European models, so experience in one province of India will afford examples to be followed or avoided in other parts of India.

4. Most provinces are now finding themselves able to attract sufficient funds without the need of State aid; and except in Eastern Bengal and Assam the amount of the subsidy given by the State is comparatively small. In several provinces, notably Madras, and also in Mysore, a beginning has been made with co-operation other than that of credit, and if the Bill lately introduced becomes law an impetus will be given to these.

5. With the increase in the number of societies the question of the constitution of central societies and unions has become one of great importance. In almost all the larger provinces an attempt has been made to organize some form of union or central bank, and a valuable report has been made by one of the sub-committees of the recent conference (in paragraph 24 of the proceedings) which gives a brief description of the various methods which have hitherto been adopted in the different provinces. By financing and controlling societies such unions and banks will not only strengthen the position of the societies, but will also supply a form of management preferable to that of minute official inspection. A certain degree of Government inspection and audit is inevitable, and in the case of the central societies such control will always be advisable, but emphasis must again be laid on the importance of avoiding anything like a general officializing of the co-operative movement in this country. In most provinces honorary organizers and lay help are becoming more readily available, and with access of expert knowledge this outside assistance is becoming of the greatest value.

6. A notable departure has been made in the Bombay Presidency, where, at the instance of the Government of Bombay, sanction has been given to the formation by the Hon'ble Sir V. Thackersey and Mr. L. Samaldas of a central bank in the Bombay Presidency of which the object is to finance co-operative societies of all kinds. Capital is to be raised by shares and debentures, interest on the latter being guaranteed by the Local Government. The Bank is to lend to none but co-operative societies registered under the Act and loans made by it will be subject to the approval of the Registrar, and a limit is set to the amount of short-term deposits which may be received and held by the Bank. It is hoped that arrangements may be made for the early commencement of operations by the Bank, and its progress will be watched by the Government of India with great interest.

7. There is much in the proceedings of the Conference of Registrars which is of interest, and the recommendations made are commended to the attention of Local Governments, but there is no matter on which the orders of the Government of India are required.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE PATENT OFFICE FOR THE CALENDAR YEAR 1910.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE AND INDUSTRY.

GENERAL.

RESOLUTION.

A Report by the Secretary under the Inventions and Designs Act, 1888 (V of 1888), on the working of the Act during the calendar year 1910, is published for general information :

No. 1410-P., dated Calcutta, the 25th April 1911.

From—H. G. GRAVES, Esq., Secretary under the Inventions and Designs Act,

To—The Secretary to the Government of India, Department of Commerce and Industry.

I have the honour to submit, for the information of the Government of India, the Annual Report of the Patent Office during the calendar year 1910.

2. The office, at 2 Bankshall Street, Calcutta, has been in my charge except between 21st April and 18th October when Mr. J. W. Meares, Electrical Adviser to the Government of India, officiated.

3. During the year 667 applications were made for leave to file specifications and 618 specifications were filed. The total number of applications under the present Act has been 10,872, and of specifications 8,508. Compared with 1909 the decrease in the number of applications has been 28, but there have been 115 more specifications filed. The amount received as continuance fees, by payment of which existing privileges are kept in force, has decreased by Rs. 2,750 but the total income of the office is better by Rs. 927-5-0.

4. The range of inventions covered by the applications was as wide as usual and the predominance in the railway and textile industries still persists. A rather noteworthy feature of the year has been the increase in the number of applications under the heading of cooking appliances, and that is directly traceable to the prize offered by Mr. David Yule for the best chula shown at the United Provinces Exhibition at Allahabad.

5. Of the 667 applications made during the year, 45 related to inventions that prima facie did not appear to be novel. In accordance with the practice that is now well established the state of public knowledge was pointed out to the applicant, and he was given an opportunity of amending his application. Including 11 cases pending from the previous year, the result has been that 13 applications were abandoned, 3 were finally refused and leave was granted in 27 cases, 13 being still pending. Altogether leave was granted on 493 of these 667 applications during the year, 10 were rejected, 26 abandoned and 138 were pending on December 31st. The percentage of these questioned, rejected and abandoned applications is fairly constant from year to year. 327 specifications were filed in respect of applications made during the year, while the balance 291 appertained to the applications of the previous years.

6. Exclusive privileges were kept alive after the fourth year by payment of prescribed fees in 663 cases, or 15 less than in the previous year, whilst 495, or 46 more than in 1909, ceased. Of the 8,508 specifications brought on the register, 2,822 are now in force, an increase of 123 as compared with 2,699 at the end of last year. The appended table shows the comparative age and number of these privileges for the various years.

7. One application only was made for the extension of an exclusive privilege beyond the normal period of 14 years. After due consideration it was granted for seven years.

8. Thirty-six applications, including one held over from 1909, for the registration of designs were dealt with during the year, a decrease of fifteen as compared with 1909. Twenty-six of these designs were registered. One application was abandoned, one was held over for consideration, and 8 were refused. The latter included one picture, and six labels or trade marks which cannot be registered under the Inventions and Designs Act. The annual number of applications in respect of designs has varied between 171 and 15. The relatively high fee of Rs. 10 is prohibitive of any marked increase and it will be reduced when the new Act comes into force in 1912.

9. The work of the office has progressed satisfactorily and has been kept up to date during the year. One case only was referred to the law officers and any other expert advice that was necessary was obtained informally. The annual consolidated index of all inventions and designs, for which protection was sought or obtained during 1909, was issued early in the year. Corresponding volumes entitled "Inventions and Designs," are at this date available for the years 1905 to 1910 at the price of Re. 1 each. A consolidated subject-matter index of inventions in the years 1900 to 1908, together with a chronological list of applications 1900 to 1904, is also on sale at Rs. 2.

10. Progress was made during the year under review with the Bill for the amendment of the law relating to inventions and designs. The Bill after the sanction of the Secretary of State had been obtained, was introduced in the Imperial Council by the Hon'ble Mr. Robertson on 23rd March 1910. On 26th March 1910 it was published in English in the Gazette of India and subsequently in English and in Hindustani, Telegu, Malayalam, Tamil, Kanarese, Marathi, Gujarathi, Urya, Hindi, Bengali, and Sindhi in the Local Gazettes. During my leave in England I discussed the Bill with the Comptroller General of Patents in view of the latest procedure under the Patents and Designs Act in the United Kingdom. The opinions of the Local Governments were received and the Bill, modified in accordance therewith, was prepared before the end of the year. As the Act has now been passed its further history may here be given. The Bill, on 3rd January 1911, was referred to a Select Committee consisting of the Hon'ble Mr. Syed Ali Imam, the Hon'ble Mr. Macpherson, the Hon'ble Mr. Graves, the Hon'ble Sir V. D. Thackersey, the Hon'ble Mr. Graham, the Hon'ble Mr. Mudholkar and the Hon'ble Mr. Robertson. I was nominated as an additional Member of Council so as to serve on this Committee as the expert member. In Committee, in deference to opinion in India, a section was introduced under which a patent is liable to revocation if not worked in the country. Certain restrictions were however inserted to ensure that a patent should not be revoked unless there was a reasonable prospect of its being worked in India. The Select Committee reported on 23rd January 1911 and their report was presented by the Hon'ble Mr. Robertson in Council on the following day. On 1st March 1911 the report was taken into consideration and the Bill as amended was passed. The Indian Patents and Designs Act, 1911, will come into force on 1st January 1912.

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday,
20th May 1911.

Burma.—The rainfall was general and mostly moderate. In Lower Burma ploughing for winter rice has begun in part of one district only. In Upper Burma reaping of spring rice and clearing of hill sides for cultivation continue. Ploughing for and sowing of early sesamum and cotton are progressing. Plucking of tobacco on island lands and gathering of miscellaneous crops are approaching completion. Standing crops are in good condition. The price of unhusked rice has risen slightly in five districts but is stationary elsewhere.

(a) Including Native States (b) Excluding Mewar

The provinces dealt with in this memorandum commonly contain 99.7 per cent of the total reported area under wheat in India.

The general seasonal conditions were favourable on the whole, though the quality of the grain was somewhat affected by rust, particularly in the United Provinces and the Panjab.

The total area comes to 29,554,500 acres which is 1,537,000 acres or 5.5 per cent above the revised figure for 1909-10, and 2,467,400 acres or 9 per cent better than the average of the preceding five years. The total outturn is estimated at 9,900,800 tons as compared with 9,590,600 tons (revised figure) for 1909-10, giving an increase of 310,200 tons or 3.2 per cent. It exceeds the average of the preceding five years by 2,032,600 tons or 25.8 per cent, and is the largest on record.

The following is a summary of the provincial reports. The figures in brackets, following the name of each province, indicate what percentage of the total area under wheat in India is ordinarily cultivated in that province. The ratio of irrigated to total wheat acreage in the province is also stated.

Panjab (33.6%). Ratio of irrigated to total wheat acreage = 52.7%.—The total area sown in British districts is reported to be 8,206,000 acres (4,259,000 acres irrigated) as compared with 8,149,000 acres (4,050,000 irrigated) last year—an increase of 0.7 per cent. Severe cold and hard frosts were prevalent in the end of December, but the crop was too young at that time to suffer harm. The rain in January practically ensured a fine harvest. But in March there occurred a spell of cloudy weather with almost daily rain. The wheat in low-lying lands suffered considerably, the heavier crops were everywhere laid, and in many places rust made its appearance. In April there were only scattered showers, and the harvest came to maturity under normal conditions. The total yield in British districts is estimated at 3,219,000 tons as compared with 3,106,000 tons last year—an increase of 3.6 per cent. It is 10 per cent above the quinquennial average, and is the largest yield since the two fine years 1906 and 1907. It is considered probable that in the Central Panjab the completion of winnowing will show the outturn to fall short of expectation both in quantity and quality. But the damage is nowhere very serious and the crop must rank with one of the best that the Panjab has produced. Native States report a total area of 1,096,000 acres which is the same as last year. The total outturn of this area is estimated at 406,000 tons as against 351,000 tons last year—an increase of some 15 per cent.

United Provinces (22.9%). Ratio of irrigated to total wheat acreage = 52.1%.—The total area sown amounts to 7,320,000 acres, which is nearly 13 per cent larger than that of the preceding year, and 17 per cent above the quinquennial average. The season was very favourable to the wheat crop till January, and an approximately normal yield was expected from the province as a whole; but the continuance of cloudy weather caused the spread of rust in nearly every part of the province. Strong winds which blew at the time of ripening of the crop caused further damage. Meerut, Agra, and Benares Divisions escaped serious injury; but in the rest of the province the grain is thin and pinched. The total yield is estimated at 2,910,000 tons compared with 2,975,000 tons last year. The small decrease of 2 per cent results from a distinctly inferior yield on the larger area.

Central Provinces and Berar (11·8%). Ratio of irrigated to total wheat acreage=1·2 per cent in the Central Provinces and 2·3 per cent in Berar.—The total area sown is reported to be 3,533,000 acres (3,182,000 in the Central Provinces and 351,000 in Berar) as compared with 3,064,000 acres (2,744,000 in the Central Provinces and 320,000 in Berar) for last year—an increase of 15 per cent. Little rain fell during December, but twice the usual quantity was received in January. This improved the prospects of the crop sown and facilitated further sowings on lands which were previously rejected for want of moisture. February was rainless. During March the rainfall in the Central Provinces was unusually heavy for the time of the year, but Berar received 75 per cent less than the normal supply. The weather was drier than usual in April, and this facilitated harvesting, threshing, and winnowing operations. On the whole, conditions were good in the important wheat-growing districts. The total yield is estimated at 958,000 tons (880,000 in the Central Provinces and 78,000 in Berar) as against 949,000 tons (873,000 in the Central Provinces and 76,000 in Berar) for last year—an increase of about 1 per cent. Two Native States (Khairagarh and Nandgaon) report a total area of 123,000 acres and an outturn of 33,000 tons compared with 112,000 acres and 43,000 tons last year.

Bombay (6·4%).—Ratio of irrigated to total wheat acreage=12·4 per cent.—The British districts report a total area of 1,212,000 acres as compared with 1,332,000 acres last year—a decrease of 9 per cent. The Native States (including Baroda) report 474,000 acres as against 488,000 acres last year—a decrease of 3 per cent. There was no rain in December, and the fall in January was light and partial and confined to South Gujarat and North Deccan only. Earlier rains, however, were ample, and the crop thrived well everywhere till the end of January. But in the beginning of February there were severe cold and frost which affected the late-sown crop in Gujarat and North and East Deccan, and occasioned shrivelling of the grain in places. There was some rain in March, but it was too late to be of any use, and the cloudy weather induced rust on the wet crop in places. The total yield, however, is estimated at 465,000 tons (306,000 in British districts and 159,000 in Native States) as compared with 451,000 tons last year—an increase of 3 per cent in spite of a decrease of 7 per cent in area. Besides the above, about 11,200 acres yielding some 3,100 tons are estimated for tracts for which statistics are not usually received.

Bengal (4·6%).—The total area sown is reported to be 1,383,000 acres as against 1,428,000 acres last year—a decrease of 3 per cent. In November there was no rain except in Bihar and in parts of Chota Nagpur where the fall was above the average. A dry December followed. In January the rainfall was general and proved beneficial to the crop, especially in Bihar. In February light showers fell all over the province except in Bihar and Chota Nagpur. Damage by hail was reported from certain places. The yield is estimated at 600,000 tons against 541,000 tons last year—an increase of 11 per cent.

North-West Frontier Province (3·7%). Ratio of irrigated to total wheat acreage=24·2 per cent.—The total area sown is reported to be 1,033,000 acres as against 1,008,000 acres last year—an increase of 2·5 per cent. The rainfall in February, though below normal, was beneficial, and was followed by copious and well-distributed rains in March, which greatly improved the condition of the standing crop. Hail storms did, however, considerable damage in a few places. The total yield is estimated at 266,000 tons as compared with 235,000 tons last year—an increase of 13 per cent.

Sind (2%). Ratio of irrigated to total wheat acreage=81·5%.—The total area is reported to be 544,000 acres (29,000 being in Native States) as compared with 471,000 acres (25,000 in Native States) for last year—an increase of 15 per cent. Inundation was favourable and rainfall good. The total outturn is estimated at 133,000 tons (11,000 in Native States) as against 132,000 tons last year—an increase of 0·8 per cent.

Eastern Bengal and Assam (0·5%).—The area sown is estimated at 74,700 acres as against 72,300 acres last year—an increase of 3 per cent. (Owing to the presence of ample moisture in the soil the season commenced very favourably; but very little rain fell in the wheat growing districts afterwards, and the result has been a disappointing harvest. The yield is estimated at 20,100 tons which is 21 per cent less than last year.

Central India (7·5%).—The total area sown is reported to be 2,460,000 acres as compared with 2,313,000 acres last year—an increase of 6·4 per cent. The yield is estimated at 582,000 tons against 514,000 tons last year—an increase of 13 per cent.

Hyderabad (3·8%). reports 1,104,000 acres compared with 1,097,000 acres last year—an increase of 0·6 per cent. The yield is estimated at 97,200 tons as against 67,900 tons last year—an increase of 43 per cent.

Rajputana (2·9%).—The total area sown (excluding that in the Mewar State from which return has not been received) is reported to be 1,112,000 acres as compared with 1,005,000 acres last year—an increase of 10 per cent. The total yield is estimated at 244,000 tons as against 243,000 tons last year—an increase of 0·4 per cent.

Mysore (0·01%). reports 2,800 acres and 500 tons compared with 3,200 acres and 400 tons last year.

Exports.—The exports of wheat from British India to foreign countries by sea during the last five years have been:—

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday,
27th May 1911.

Burma.—The rainfall was general and in most districts heavy. Ploughing for winter rice is extending in Lower Burma. In Upper Burma the uplands are being prepared for sesamum and cotton. Cultivation of summer rice is in progress. Reaping of spring rice and harvesting of island crops have been completed in most districts. Standing crops promise well. The price of unhusked rice has risen at Rangoon.

Eastern Bengal and Assam.—The rainfall was light to moderate in parts of the Assam Valley, the Rajshahi division and the hill districts and heavy elsewhere. The heaviest fall was 14 inches in South Sylhet. Excessive rain has affected weeding operations and has done slight damage to standing crops. It is likely to cause greater damage if it continues. Harvesting of spring rice is practically over. Sowing of autumn and winter rice and jute and transplanting of sugarcane still continue. Prospects of the silk worm are good. The average price of common rice shows a tendency to rise. Cattle disease prevails in Mymensingh, Cachar, Sylhet, the Naga Hills, Goalpara, Kamrup, Darrang and Sibsagar.

Bengal.—The rainfall was general over the Province. The fall was heavy in Nadia, Jessore, Khulna and Darjeeling, moderate in Midnapore, Hooghly, the 24-Parganas, Patna, Shahabad, Saran, Champaran, Monghyr, Cuttack, Puri and Manbhum and generally light elsewhere. The recent rain has been beneficial for ploughing and sowing but more rain is wanted in parts of the 24-Parganas, Darbhanga, Angul and Puri. Sowing of jute still continues and that of paddy is in progress. The standing sugarcane crop and vegetables are doing well. The price of rice has risen in Murshidabad, Darjeeling, Balasore, Puri, Hazaribagh and Manbhum and has fallen in Khulna, Bhagalpur, Cuttack and Palamau. Cattle disease is reported from Burdwan, Midnapore, Nadia, Jessore, Patna, Muzaffarpur, Monghyr, Purnea, the Sonthal Parganas, Sambalpur and all the districts of the Chota Nagpur division except Singhbhum. Fodder is insufficient in parts of Hazaribagh. Scarcity of water is reported from this district and also from Palamau.

United Provinces.—Light rain fell in four south-eastern and two Himalayan districts. Extra crops are flourishing and are being harvested. Irrigation of sugarcane and extra crops continues and sowing of cotton, millets and early rice is in progress in places. Fields are being manured and prepared for autumn crops. Sporadic cattle disease is reported in ten districts but the general condition of stock is good. Fodder and supplies are ample. Export of grain and oilseeds from several districts continues. There is no marked change in prices.

Punjab.—Rainfall nil. Spring crops are being harvested and threshed and their outturn is good to average. Sowing of autumn crops continues. Standing crops are generally in good condition. Prices are easy. The condition of cattle is generally good. Fodder is sufficient except in Murree. Water is scarce in parts of Mianwali.

North-West Frontier Province.—Rainfall nil. The condition of standing crops is average. Sowings of autumn crops continue. Harvesting of spring crops are in progress and the expected outturn is said to be generally average, but in Dera Ismail Khan the outturn of oilseed crops is reported below the average. The fodder and water supply is sufficient throughout the Province. Irrigation has commenced from the Paharpur canal in the Dera Ismail Khan district. Cattle are generally in good condition except in one village of the Marwat tahsil in the Bannu district and in one village of the Mardan tahsil in the Peshawar district. ## GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Rainfall summary for the seven days ending at 8 hrs. on Thursday, the 8th June 1911, based on the Indian Daily Weather Reports of the period.

1. A preliminary advance of monsoon winds over the centre and west of the Arabian Sea was in progress during the early part of the week, but it did not extend into the Indian land area. At the close of the week the circulation round an area of low pressure situated over the Arabian Sea was giving winds of the monsoon type, accompanied by somewhat heavy rain, along the west coast of the Peninsula. Weather was unsettled in the north-west of the Bay towards the end of the week and a tendency to the formation of a depression in this area caused rainfall to withdraw from the greater part of northeast India.

2. Temperature was throughout high in the northwest and extreme north, and for the most part low over the central parts of the country and the northeast and east of the Peninsula. In northeast India it was somewhat above normal in the first part of the week and somewhat below in the latter part. An area of marked low temperature was situated over the north and east Punjab and the west United Provinces on the 3rd, but this had disappeared by the 4th. Weather was cool in Upper Burma in the early part of the week and about normal later.

3. Burma.—Rainfall was nearly general on the 5th and fairly general on other days.

Northeast India, including Orissa.—A few falls were reported each day during the early part of the week. Rainfall became nearly general in Eastern Bengal and Assam on the 4th, and over the whole division on the 5th. Subsequently it diminished and on the 7th had withdrawn almost completely from Assam.

The United Provinces, Central India and the Central Provinces.—Light falls were reported each day, and on the 5th rainfall was fairly general in the Central Provinces.

Northwest India.—Some rain fell in Rajputana and the extreme north on the 2nd and 3rd, and again in Rajputana on the 4th and 5th.

The Peninsula.—Scattered falls occurred until the 3rd when rainfall became fairly general. From the 4th it was general in Malabar, and on the 6th and 7th heavy falls were reported: elsewhere scattered falls again occurred.

4. The largest daily amounts of rainfall reported during the week were as follows:—

Irrigation.

Simla, the 29th May 1911.

Review of Irrigation in India in 1909-10.

Irrigation works in India are divided into two main classes, viz., major and minor works. Major works are sub-divided into :—

- (a) Productive public works, the capital of which is usually provided from borrowed money.
- (b) Protective works, designed as a protection against famine, the capital of which is provided from current revenues.

Capital and revenue accounts are kept for all major works.

Minor works are constructed from funds provided also out of the current revenues of India and are sub-divided into :—

- (a) Works for which capital and revenue accounts are kept.
- (b) Works for which only revenue accounts are kept.
- (c) Works for which neither capital nor revenue accounts are kept.

A.—MAJOR WORKS.*I.—Productive Public Works.

2. Productive public works are expected to yield sufficient revenue to pay their working expenses and the interest on the outlay expended on their construction. No project is now sanctioned as a productive public work unless it can be shown beyond reasonable doubt that on full development it will fulfil these conditions. But the same standard did not obtain in former years, and thus it has happened that several large irrigation works which were financed from borrowed capital, are not remunerative. There are 13 such works, viz., four in Bengal, seven in the Deccan and Gujarat, and two in Madras. They are still retained on the list of productive works, but expenditure against their capital account is now charged against the current revenues of India. The total loss on these 13 works has exceeded 10½ crores. But though they have proved financial failures in the ordinary commercial sense, they have been indirectly of great value in securing large areas of cultivation against the vicissitudes of the seasons.

3. The remaining works in operation, 40 in number, satisfy productive conditions. These works paid collectively 10·36 per cent on their capital outlay during the year; while the surplus revenue, after paying interest charges, which they had contributed to the general revenues of the country up to the end of 1909-10, amounted to 36 crores of rupees against 30¾ crores, the capital invested on them. The financial results, the area irrigated, and the mileage in operation for all productive public works in operation are shown separately by provinces in Statements I and II.

4. The total area irrigated by all the productive public works, including branches in Native States of the Punjab, amounted to 14,284,000 acres. Towards this total the Punjab canals contributed more than 6 million acres, a larger area than attained in any other province. The return on capital is also highest in the Punjab where the canals yielded 12·78 per cent. There was a marked falling off in the areas irrigated on the Western Jumna, Upper Bari Doab, and Sirhind Canals. The decrease was due to good and timely rainfall in the tracts served by these systems, resulting in a diminished demand for canal water; but the deficiency was more than counterbalanced by increases in the Lower Chenab, Lower Jhelum and Sidhnai systems. The Lower Chenab canal irrigated 2,212,699 acres and earned a gross revenue of Rs. 1,01,84,434. These figures are respectively 11 and 20 per cent in excess of the previous record for this canal; and this is the first time in the history of irrigation in India in which a single canal has irrigated in one year more than two million acres, and earned a gross revenue of more than a crore of rupees. Taking the productive works in the Punjab as a whole there was an improvement on the results recorded in the review for 1908-09. During the past two years the working expenses of the Indus inundation canals have exceeded the gross revenue, with the result that the profit earned by the system is now represented by a minus quantity. The heavy maintenance charges which it has been necessary to incur on these canals are due to serious damage caused by floods, and are not necessarily of a recurring nature.

5. In the United Provinces, the timely and well distributed rainfall in both seasons reduced the demand for canal irrigation; the area irrigated and the revenue assessed were consequently less than in the previous year. Rich harvests were reaped, which greatly benefited the cultivating community after the years of drought and scarcity recently experienced. The supplies in the canals were generally equal to the demand.

6. In Madras the figures relating to the acreage under irrigation do not differ materially from those of the previous year. There is however a decrease of about two lakhs in the net revenue during the year as compared with the last. In this Presidency the financial results of the productive works taken as a whole are seriously affected by the poor results of the Kurnool-Cuddapah canal, the capital cost of which exceeds  $2\frac{1}{2}$  crores of rupees while the area irrigated during the year was 70,130 as compared with 64,586 acres in the previous year. The net revenue realised amounted to Rs. 47,424 only, representing but 0.21 per cent on the capital outlay.

7. In Sind the rainfall is negligible and cultivators are therefore obliged to depend entirely upon canal irrigation. The canals, being of the inundation class, are in turn dependent upon the height and duration of the floods in the Indus during the irrigating season. The year under review was a prosperous one for the cultivators, although the area of irrigation was somewhat less than that attained in the previous year. Rice is a favourite crop when water is plentiful and the year being one of good inundation, the area of rice crop exceeded the combined area of the standard food grains, viz., Juari and Bajri. The net revenue realised exceeded that of the previous year by nearly a lakh of rupees.

8. In Bombay (Deccan and Gujarat) rice irrigation is largely carried out by the people without the aid of Government works, and the canal works are limited in scope in comparison with those of other provinces. The area irrigated in the period covered by this review amounted to 51,672 acres as compared with 37,314 acres in the previous year. As stated in paragraph 2 above, the works are not remunerative.

9. In Bengal, the Hijili Tidal Canal is used purely for navigation purposes; the three other canals, viz., the Orissa, the Midnapore and the Sone, are also so utilised, but they are primarily intended for irrigation. The gross revenue slightly exceeded that of the previous year, although there was a slight defect in the acreage under irrigation. The decrease occurred chiefly on the Sone canals, owing to a smaller area irrigated in the rabi season. The increase in gross revenue was nearly equally divided between navigation and irrigation, the higher irrigation receipts being due to the large area of rabi irrigated from the Sone canals in the preceding year. Although these works do not fulfil productive conditions, there is no doubt about their indirect value, considering that the estimated value of crops raised on the area irrigated by them in the year under review amounted to nearly four crores of rupees, a sum which is about two-thirds of their total capital cost.

10. Both in Burma and in the North-West Frontier Province the irrigated area exceeded 200,000 acres.

11. The importance of productive public works may be gauged roughly by the value of the crops which are produced by their agency. In the year under review the estimated value of the crops irrigated by productive public works amounted to about 51½ crores of rupees, exceeding the capital cost incurred on them by more than 9 crores. With the completion of the important works now under construction, viz., the Upper Jhelum, Upper Chenab and Lower Bari Doab canals in the Punjab, the Upper Swat River canal in the North-West Frontier Province, the Nagavalli River project in Madras, the Môn and Ye-u Canals in Burma and the Asola Mendha tank in the Central Provinces, considerable additional areas will be brought under cultivation.

II.—Protective Works.

12. There were in operation in the year under review 20 protective works which together irrigated a total of 303,057 acres. The majority are small tank works situated in the Central Provinces, where irrigation is still in an early stage of development. The works in the Central Provinces were sanctioned as experimental works, in accordance with the recommendations of the Irrigation Commission, to test how far the people were willing to resort to irrigation for the maturing of their crops and what water rates they were prepared to pay. The results obtained are very gratifying and show that the people are beginning to realise the great advantages of irrigation. In the year 1908-09 the rainfall there was above the average while in the year under review it was deficient. The area irrigated in the Central Provinces during 1909-10 was 24,717 acres against 25,413 acres in the previous year. The average water rate paid during the year on these works was Rs. 1.56 per acre. Particulars of all protective works are given in Statements IV, V and VI.

B.—MINOR WORKS.

III.—Works for which capital and revenue accounts are kept.

13. There were ninety-four works so classed in 1909-10, the majority of which are in Bombay and Madras. Seven are purely navigation works.

The net revenue paid by works of this category during the year under review amounted to Rs. 29,21,367 (excluding navigation canals) or a return of 7.99 per cent on the capital outlay, against 7.95 per cent in the previous year. Nearly all the minor works in Sind return exceptionally high percentages; but as some large projects, with which it is intended to amalgamate them are under consideration, their transfer to major works has been postponed for the present.

Excluding the area shown under Burma, viz., 452,658 acres, which is not under irrigation, but represents the area of cultivation on lands reclaimed by river flood embankments, the area irrigated by minor irrigation works during 1909-10 was 1,427,133 acres against 1,511,093 acres in the previous year.

Statements VII and VIII give particulars of individual works.

IV.—Works for which only revenue accounts are kept.

14. There are numerous minor works for which separate capital accounts are not kept, either because they are not sufficiently important, or because, having been constructed by the former rulers of the country, their capital cost is not known. For such works only revenue accounts are kept; they are credited with a share of the land revenue depending on their maintenance, and are debited with all expenditure incurred on construction, extension, improvements and maintenance. Particulars for the year 1909-10 are shown in Statement X.

V.—Works for which neither capital nor revenue accounts are kept.

15. There is a third important class of minor works, chiefly existing in the Madras Presidency, for which neither capital nor revenue accounts are kept. The Madras works include over 28,000 tanks and 6,000 irrigation channels, the improvements and repairs of which are executed by the Public Works Department, or, in the case of the smaller works, by civil officers. The areas irrigated by these small works in 1909-10 aggregated 3,385,233 acres, (or about the same area irrigated by all the major works in the Presidency taken together), compared with 3,327,833 acres in 1908-09.

16. The following table summarises the results of irrigation works for all India during 1909-10 in comparison with those of the two previous years :—

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Memorandum on the meteorological conditions prevailing before the advance of the southwest monsoon of 1911.

Monsoon rainfall in India is known to be affected by many external conditions. The following statement contains those which are at present believed to be the most important:—

THE ARGENTINE REPUBLIC.

1. At Buenos Aires monthly pressure was in excess in March by 0.096" and in defect in April and May by 0.064" and 0.016" respectively.

THE INDIAN OCEAN.

2. (a) Mauritius.—During May the barometer was unsteady, and pressure was below normal by 0.59". The low pressure conditions appear to have extended well over the South Indian Ocean, as Australia also showed a slight defect. The air movement at Mauritius was nearly normal in character.

(b) Zanzibar.—Rainfall during May was in excess by 6.75" or 65 per cent. Winds were slightly more westerly than usual and below their normal strength.

(c) Seychelles.—Rainfall in April was in defect by 4.24", or 60 per cent, and in May in excess by 0.44", or 7 per cent. Winds were lighter and slightly more easterly than usual.

(d) Logs of vessels.—In the west and centre of the Arabian Sea there prevailed, towards the close of May, a strong monsoon current which had in the ordinary course skirted the east coast of Africa. This resulted in the formation of a cyclonic storm which is believed to have crossed the coast of Arabia and to have broken up inland about the 28th or 29th May.

During the same period there were light unsteady winds between Mauritius and Seychelles, and it is this abnormal feature that accounts for the absence of monsoon winds over the eastern parts of the Arabian Sea, and the consequent delay in the appearance of the monsoon on the west coast. In normal years moderately strong southeasterly trades prevail towards the end of May in the sub-equatorial regions mentioned, and the monsoon strikes the Malabar coast on June 3rd.

In the Bay of Bengal a feeble and temporary advance of monsoon winds occurred in the middle of May.

NORTHEAST AFRICA.

3. The rainfall in this area is chiefly due to the more westerly portions of the same currents which supply the monsoon of India.

The rains in the Sudan began early and proved heavy up to the middle of May. From the state of the Blue Nile it is believed that similar conditions held in Abyssinia. At the end of the month the height of the river was about normal.

SNOWFALL.

4. (a) According to the incomplete information as yet available the snowfall, especially in December and January, was abnormally heavy in Persia, Transcaspia, western Afghanistan and parts of Turkistan. In some parts of Persia snow is reported to have fallen to unusually low levels.

(b) In Baluchistan the precipitation was well above the average in December, January and March, and normal or in defect in February, April and May. Similar conditions seem to have prevailed in the North-West Frontier Province.

A rapid melting of the accumulations occurred during the second half of May, but the quantity of unmelted residue at the beginning of June was undoubtedly greater than usual.

(c) In Kashmir the precipitation of the season was heavy, an excess having occurred in December, January and March. There were occasional falls in April and a few local falls in May, but they were restricted to the higher ranges. At the end of May snow lay nearly 8 feet deep on the higher mountains near Sonemarg, but was melting fast.

(d) In the Punjab Himalayas the snowfall was very heavy in January and March and probably also in December: it was light to moderate in February and April, and very light and local in May. In Kulu, Spiti and Lahoul the season was exceptionally severe. In the beginning of June the accumulations in Chamba and Kulu, for which alone information is as yet forthcoming, were unusually great.

(e) In the Kumaon hills snowfall was greater than usual in January and March and normal or below normal in December, February and May. In Almora the accumulations at the end of April were much greater than usual.

INDIA.

5. Weather was cooler than usual in April, the establishment of the hot weather conditions having been greatly delayed by the excessive snowfall of the winter months.

Mean barometric pressure for May was in favourable defect, but the local distribution in northern India was far from satisfactory.

SUMMARY OF FACTS; AND INFERENCES.

6. (a) Pressure in South America during April was unfavourable for the monsoon, but improved slightly later. In Mauritius pressure has been variable, a condition foreshadowing unsteadiness in the monsoon; but being below normal, it affords a favourable sign for the total quantity of monsoon rainfall.

(b) Snowfall was heavy in the earlier winter months, and light later; the accumulations at present are above normal, and form an unfavourable feature.

(c) From the evidence of ships' logs, and from the recorded state of the Nile, it appears that the monsoon in the west of the Arabian Sea was up to time and has been strongly developed.

On the other hand the monsoon in the east of the Arabian Sea has been delayed owing to the undeveloped conditions mentioned in paragraph 2 (d).

(d) The unsatisfactory distribution of barometric pressure in northern India during May is adverse to the timely establishment of the Bay current in the western half of its field.

FORECAST.

7. (a) The Arabian Sea monsoon, already late in appearance, is likely to be late also in its full establishment. It will probably be less steady than usual and may be expected to shew periods of marked activity and of marked feebleness.

(b) The existence of great accumulations of snow at the present time make it probable that the monsoon in northwest India will be weak during the first half of the rainy season.

(c) The Bay current is likely to appear on the Bengal coast at the normal time, about the middle of this month. The process of its establishment in the western part of its area, the Gangetic plain, is likely to be slow.

(d) The total monsoon rainfall for the period June to September is not likely to differ from the normal by more than about 5 per cent: a defect is more likely than an excess.

* This is in agreement with the results of the statistical method, due to Dr. Walker, of examining antecedent determining conditions.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Rainfall summary for the seven days ending at 8 hrs. on Thursday, the 15th June 1911, based on the Indian Daily Weather Reports of the period.

1. The disturbance which lay off the west coast at the beginning of the week gradually disappeared while the depression in the Bay intensified. The latter crossed the coast of Orissa on the 10th and moved into the Central Provinces on the 11th, but by the following day its path had recurved and it was moving towards Bengal. At the close of the week the storm had its centre over Narayanganj and was decreasing in importance. As is usual, some heavy rainfall was associated with it.

This storm was comparatively unimportant but may be considered to have introduced into Bengal on 11th the first burst of true monsoon rainfall.

There were signs of a coming weakening in the Arabian Sea branch of the monsoon on the 12th and 13th, and on the 14th it had weakened considerably along the west coast, but had given rain in central and northwest India.

2. At the beginning of the week temperature was above normal in north and northeast India, and below normal in the Peninsula and the central parts of the country. On the 11th low temperature conditions had extended, and only in the northwest was temperature above normal. Weather remained unusually cool over almost the whole country during the rest of the week.

3. Burma.—Rainfall was nearly general until the 12th when it diminished somewhat in Upper Burma.

Northeast India, including Orissa.—At the beginning of the week rainfall was practically confined to the coast districts but increased later and became nearly general, diminishing again at the close of the week.

The United Provinces, Central India and the Central Provinces.—The week began with light local rainfall, but nearly general rain, very heavy in parts, occurred in the Central Provinces and Central India West on the 11th and 12th. It was nearly general in Central India and the west of the Central Provinces on the 14th.

Rainfall summary for the seven days ending at 8 hrs. on Thursday, the 22nd June 1911, based on the Indian Daily Weather Reports of the period.

1. The storm which affected northeast India during the previous week had practically disappeared on the 16th. Another depression had already, however, begun to develop at the head of the Bay, and this, crossing the coast on the 18th, caused a renewal of nearly general rainfall in northeast India.

The Arabian Sea monsoon was feeble throughout the week, and rainfall on the west coast was scanty. Telegrams from Mauritius, Zanzibar and Seychelles show adverse conditions of barometric pressure in the south Indian Ocean, which are sufficient to account for the present weakness of the monsoon on the west coast of India.

2. Temperature was very low over the northern half of the country at the beginning of the week, but by the 20th had risen to slightly above normal in the northwest. Elsewhere no persistent abnormalities occurred.

3. Burma.—Rainfall was nearly general in Lower Burma, while in Upper Burma it varied from nearly general to very local.

Northeast India, including Orissa.—Rainfall was light in the early part of the week, but subsequently spread northwards, and during the last four days falls were nearly general.

The United Provinces, Central India and the Central Provinces.—A few falls of rain were reported each day during the week. Moderately heavy falls occurred locally.

Northwest India.—A few falls, chiefly light, were reported each day until the 20th but subsequently no rainfall worthy of note occurred.

The Peninsula.—Rainfall was scanty and unusually light on the west coast, while from the inland districts only a few falls were reported.

4. The largest daily amounts of rainfall reported during the week were as follows:—

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday,
17th June 1911.

Burma.—The rainfall was heavy in the coast districts, light generally in the dry zone and moderate elsewhere. Sowing of hill-side rice is in progress. Ploughing for winter rice in Lower Burma is general. Reaping of summer rice in Upper Burma is approaching completion and ploughing for autumn rice is advancing. Ploughing and sowing of early sesamum, cotton and groundnut continue. Agricultural conditions are favourable. The price of unhusked rice has risen largely in Prome and slightly at four centres. It has fallen considerably in Sandoway and Amherst. Prices in Lower Burma generally and in Mandalay are high.

Eastern Bengal and Assam.—Heavy rain has fallen throughout the Province and has caused damage to standing crops in parts of Eastern Bengal. More sun is wanted for tea. Mosquito blight is reported from Cachar. Harvesting of aus rice is in progress. Transplantation of winter rice has commenced. The average price of common rice shows a tendency to rise. Cattle disease prevails in Mymensingh, Cachar, the Naga Hills, Goalpara, Kamrup, Darrang, Nowgong, Sibsagar and Lakhimpur.

Bengal.—Rain was general all over the Province. The fall was very heavy in the Sonthal Parganas, Burdwan, Birbhum, Bankura, Monghyr, Bhagalpur, Darjeeling and in the districts of the Presidency, Orissa and Chota Nagpur divisions and generally moderate in the rest of the Province. Sowing of paddy and weeding of jute continue but the operations have been temporarily retarded in Nadia and the Sonthal Parganas owing to the heavy rainfall. Some damage to standing crops is also reported from Murshidabad. The price of common rice has risen in Bankura, Murshidabad, Jessore, Saran, Monghyr, Cuttack, Angul and Cooch Behar and has fallen in Patna, Gaya, Ranchi and Manbhum. Cattle disease is reported from Midnapore, Nadia, Murshidabad, Patna, Champaran, Darbhanga, Sambalpur, Hazaribagh and Palamau. The fodder and water-supply is sufficient throughout the Province.

United Provinces.—Useful rain fell throughout the Provinces. It was sufficient in most districts to start ploughing and sowing for autumn crops. Harvesting of extra crops is nearing completion. Sugarcane is doing well and the general outlook is good. Cattle are in a satisfactory condition, only eight districts reporting the presence of disease. Fodder and supplies are ample. Exports of grain and oilseeds continue. Prices are generally stationary.

Punjab.—Good to moderate rain has fallen in all districts. Spring crops are still being harvested and threshed in a few districts. The condition of standing crops is good to average. Sowings of autumn crops continue. Locusts have damaged cotton and great millet in parts of Multan. Prices have risen slightly in some districts. Cattle are generally in good condition. Fodder is sufficient.

North-West Frontier Province.—Rain varying from 3 cents in Tank to 1·01 inches in Lakki fell during the week in the Dera Ismail Khan and Bannu districts and was beneficial to standing crops. No rain fell in Peshawar. The condition of standing crops on irrigated areas is fair and on unirrigated areas is average. The outturn of wheat and barley in Peshawar is average. There is no abnormal disease among cattle. The Tochi and Kurram rivers are in flood. Irrigation from the Paharpur canal continues. The fodder and water supply is generally sufficient except that water is reported to be scarce in certain villages of Dera Ismail Khan. Prices of food grains are fluctuating. Prices:—Wheat 15½ to 21½, maize 10½ to 22, gram 17½ to 31 and bajra 22½ to 28½ seers per rupee.

Jammu.—Slight rain fell during the week. Prices are fluctuating. Wheat sells from 11 to 20 and maize from 16 to 30 seers per rupee. The condition of standing crops is fair. Fodder is sufficient.

Kashmir.—The weather was clear and very hot. Crops on unirrigated lands are withering for want of rain. There is no disease among cattle. Fodder is sufficient. Prices are unchanged.

Rajputana.—Rain fell during the week except in Sirohi. The maximum fall was 405 cents in the Hilly Tracts and Mewar and the minimum 24 cents in Jaisalmer. Ploughing and sowing are in progress. Cattle disease prevails in parts of Gwalior, Baghelkhand, Bundelkhand and Bhopawar. Prices show a general downward tendency owing to the recent rainfall.

Central Provinces.—Rain fell during the week all over the Provinces. The principal falls in inches were:—Bilaspur 8, Balaghat 6 and Saugor, Narsinghpur, Raipur, Mandla and Buldana 4 to 5 and in the remaining districts the fall ranged from 12 cents in Nimar to 2½ inches in Akola.
